Course Description

This course is an Introduction to American Government and is designed to provide a foundation for understanding and participating in the American political system. We will examine the theoretical ideas that informed the creation and development of America's political system and consider some of the major contemporary challenges to the maintenance of American democracy. Upon successful completion of this course, students should be able to: 1) understand the origins and nature of the constitutional system 2) appreciate the relationship between the development of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches 3) understand basic social science theories concerning political behavior, bureaucracies, interest groups, and political parties 4) understand how social scientists explain and understand social and political processes 5) write thesis-based persuasive essays 6) understand how policy throughout the history of the United States has affected our current state; and 7) understand the importance of milestone events throughout our history.

DISABILITY STATEMENT

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. This legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. Reinhardt University is committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities. Therefore, if you are seeking classroom accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act, you are required to register with the Academic Support Office (ASO). ASO is located in the basement of Lawson Building. To receive academic accommodations for this class, please obtain the proper ASO letter.

CENTER FOR STUDENT SUCCESS. For those students needing help with their papers, study habits, note-taking, and preparation for test-taking, please make an appointment at “the Center for Student Success” (Room 313, Hill Freeman Library). They will be more than happy to help you out.

AN IMPORTANT NOTE FOR ATHLETES. Those of you who play sports for Reinhardt must contact me and let me know, ahead of time, when you will be missing class because of games, injuries and/or emergencies so I could make the corresponding adjustments. You must NOT rely on your coaches’ notifications sent to me. You must contact me individually about these issues.

COURSE FORMAL POLICIES AND EXPECTATIONS. Having in mind that education is about equipping students with the values, skills, knowledge, and experiences to interact with the world in relevant and transformative ways, it is expected that students will honor a set of ethical, professional, and civil principles that will guide their actions in this course. Outlined below are some of the most important ones:

- 1.) ATTENDANCE GUIDELINES. To create a culture of learning, professionalism, and civility, all students are expected to attend class faithfully and on time. Although the Reinhardt Catalog states that attendance is an “obligation,” please remember that attending class is also a privilege. Formal education is a blessing not too many people enjoy. Missing too many classes (without any legitimate justifications) will have negative implications on your final grade. In the case of an emergency or justified absences, please contact me via email ahead of time to indicate the reasons why you were not or will not be in class.
- 2.) INTEGRITY AND PROFESSIONALISM. Throughout this course the following ethical principles are assumed as norms of conduct:
 - A. ANY FORM OF ACADEMIC DISHONESTY WILL NOT BE ACCEPTABLE AND WILL BE SERIOUSLY PENALIZED. PLAGIARISM or CHEATING will make you fail this course!!!!
 - B. Good-in-class behavior is assumed as a norm. Any form of disrupting behavior is not acceptable. It is assumed that each student will follow Reinhardt's code of conduct as explained in the student handbook.

C. This class is a FREE-CELL-PHONE ZONE. Cell phones must be turned off and put in your pockets or backpacks. Failure to comply with this requirement will have negative implications on your grade.

D. LAPTOP COMPUTERS/TABLETS may only be used for TAKING NOTES and you must formally ask for permission to do so. During class time, you are NOT ALLOWED TO DO HOMEWORK FOR OTHER COURSES or USE SOCIAL MEDIA. You must be fully present! Failure to comply with this requirement will have negative implications on your grade.

E. The conditions of this syllabus are binding and must be followed faithfully. I assume you all know its content. By deciding to take this course, you ALL AGREE to follow the norms ruling this course.

F. Any comment or suggestion that contributes to your growth as students, the improvement of this class, and a learning environment is welcome. I am here to help you learn, succeed and be a better human being. Please do not wait until the end of the semester to ask for help. Feel free to contact me at any time.

3.) COMMUNICATION MODE. All of you are responsible for constantly checking CANVAS (Files, Announcements, etc.) and your Reinhardt email accounts regarding issues pertaining to this course (materials, lectures, announcements, class schedule changes, grades, etc.). When you communicate with me, you must follow a formal, respectful protocol. You must be polite and/or use manners. Do NOT use your personal emails!
